Jim Brewster

BANFF, February 13

Banff has suffered a severe loss in the passing of James Irvine (Jim) Brewster, who died suddenly at his home here shortly after midnight Tuesday last at the age of 65 years. In fairly good health and having just celebrated his 65th birthday on Monday, February 10, Jim was scheduled to make the opening address at the Ice Frolic this coming Saturday afternoon.

Born in Kingston, Ontario, February 10, 1882, he moved to Winnipeg with his parents, John and Isabel Brewster, at the age of two. Following the Riel Rebellion the family moved to Banff in 1887. When a lad of 10 years, along with his brother Bill, he started to take fishing parties out, then a partnership was formed between the two brothers in a guiding and outfitting business and in 1900 they formed a livery business known as Brewster Bros. Bill sold out to Jim in 1910, and Jim carried on until 1915, when keeping pace with the times, he guided his business through the horsedrawn era, changing over to automobiles, which was the start of the Brewster Transport Company, which now consists of fleets of busses, cars, saddle horses, pack-trains, with branches in Lake Louise, Field, Emerald Lake, Calgary, Golden, Waterton and Honolulu. In addition he was the owner of the Mount Royal Hotel, Banff; Sunshine Ski Lodge, and the Columbia Icefield Chalet.

Mr. Brewster was a personal friend of the Duke of Windsor and had met all the male members of the British Royal House. In 1901 he acted as interpreter for the late King George V, when as Duke of York and Cornwall, he visited Canada and talked with the Indians. He was a man of adventure, yet never one to talk about them. The film, "So This Is London," and which starred the late Will Rogers, was in reality the adventures of Jim Brewster, when as a guest of the Earl of Suffolk, he spent some time in England.

When the King and Queen visited Banff in 1939 he drove them around in an old fashioned democrat. Their Majesties later visited the Brewster home informally and viewed and expressed admiration for his large collection of big game and other trophies.

Made Indian Chief

He was also a great friend and champion of the Stony Indians at Morley and last year, during Banff Indian Days, was honored by that tribe by being made a chief. In giving him the title of Chief Mountain Child, the tribal chiefs hailed Mr. Brewster as a great pioneer of the Canadian Rockies and a friend of the tribe in times of famine and plenty.

From the "Crag and Canyon"

Tributes from Trail Riders

Jim Brewster was so closely associated with the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies from the very inception of the Order that it seems only fitting to make this number of the Bulletin a tribute to his memory. When the original four who conceived the idea of the Trail Riders rode into Banff from the Wolverine Plateau to find out whether it would receive support from the old-timers, Jim Brewster was the first man whom they approached, and at once he said "Go ahead! I'm for it." What appealed to him in particular was the clause in the proposed Constitution that it would be open to all, irrespective of age, sex, creed, colour or profession — particularly the word 'profession', because that meant it would be open to the guides. As he predicted, the guides have been all for the Order.

Your editor therefore wrote letters to the President and the ex-Presidents asking them if they would care to send a message to be printed in such a memorial Bulletin. Some of these apparently are away from home, so that some of the letters have not yet been answered, but the number of replies received indicates the general feeling that this was an appropriate gesture. J. M. Wardle, of the Department of Mines and Resources at Ottawa, an ex-President, was able to secure a photograph of Mount Brewster taken the other day by Peter Whyte. Nick Morant sent in the wonderful portrait of Jim reproduced on the front cover. He also made the picture of Jim and Mrs. Jim seated on either side of the fireplace in their living room at Banff, see page 9, and the photograph of Brewster Creek, page 15.

From MARSHALL H. DIVERTY

With the passing of my friend Jim Brewster it is natural that I reflect upon his many manifestations of love for his friends. I shall forever remember the care he took of me and my small daughter when we first began to know his mountains. Years later I learned that Jim was responsible for our comfort and friendly welcome. It was never referred to by Jim—he was that way.

We Trail Riders can never know all of the kindly things that Jim has done for us through the years. We shall miss his counsel and his participation in our problems and in our triumphs. He knew the mountains and the trails.

It takes little imagination to picture a group of Trail Riders pausing on a high plateau. We see a fellow rider pass along the ridge and move slowly on his pony along where the land and sky seem to meet. Someone will presently say that the rider is gone. Friends like Jim are never gone. He has simply passed from our horizon. He is the same wonderful companion—just the same beloved friend. We may say, "He has gone" but other Trail Riders of Jim's mountains are watching at the end of the trail and he hears their voices shout "Here he comes".

We loved Jim and shall forever treasure his memory. Some day when we reach the end of our trail may we be then travelling on his trail and hear his cheerful welcome.

From DAN McCOWAN

On a calm and sunny day in February of this year Jim Brewster went on his last trail ride. A deep blue sky flecked with fleecy clouds; an immaculate coverlet over hill and dale; the mountains sublime in snowy splendour,—together these formed such a picture as had so often delighted the eye and made glad the heart of him to whom we then paid final tribute.

All the people of Banff were there for all had lost a good neighbour and the entire community deeply mourned his passing. Less than a year had elapsed since the Assiniboine Indians made him a Chief in the tribe and on this mid-winter afternoon the Red Men and Women from Morley gathered silently at Banff to honour the memory of "Mountain Child" and to place their own significant symbol of immortality on his last resting place.

To one who has lived for many years in the Canadian Rockies the individual mountains become, as it were, close friends, reliable and steadfast in sunshine and in storm. Some of these great monoliths, such as Rundle and Hector, Aylmer and Coleman, Wilson and Unwin, seem to be the more intimate from their association with the men whose memory they perpetuate. And now to these memorials is added that of Mount Brewster. Standing high over the valley and above the little town wherein his life was spent it will recall to memory a pioneer guide who loved the mountains and whose creed was that of the helping hand. The snows of many winters will drift over its rugged crest before the kindly actions of James I. Brewster are forgotten.

To those of us who knew him on Sky Line Trails and around the evening camp fires there remain none but happy memories of a good companion and a genial friend.

From COLONEL PHILIP A. MOORE

"He was a man, take him for all in all, I shall not look upon his like again"

Hamlet 1-2-188

A few short weeks ago, Jim Brewster as has been his custom many times for many years, took a trip out into his beloved hills. But this was his last trip out. He will not be back again. His passing marked the end of an era and the last colorful figure of the Great Northwest belongs to history.

Seldom has any man whether in public life or not—and Jim never was in nor cared for public life—inspired more respect, loyalty and affection than he aroused in those who knew him. His charities and kindly acts were many and unheralded and his name as a builder of the West was just as much a part of the Canadian Rockies as the Bow River, and the Stony Indians when they made him a chief of their tribe showed a penetrating appreciation of this by naming him "Yaha Dun Skun"—Mountain Child.

Equally at home at court or in camp—whitemen Indians and kings called him friend.

And so Jim has turned aside from the well-worn trail and, it may be, that with his old friends, Hector, William Twin and Jonas Benjamin has mounted his pony for the last time and has ridden away over the Great Divide into the mellow golden haze of the storied past. Hail—and farewell, Companion on many trails! May the earth be light to thee.

From SIDNEY HOLLANDER

Jim Brewster's death came as a great shock. He was as much a part of Banff as the mountains and Bow River.

Jim was usually the first thing one saw when coming back each year and his warm smile and firm handclasp gave one a feeling of home-coming.

The Trail Riders especially will miss him. His deep interest and never-failing helpfulness were counted on by all who ever participated. Things will never be quite the same without him.

Driving King George and Queen Elizabeth round Banff in 1939

From J. M. WARDLE

I first met the late Jim Brewster in 1914 when a start was being made towards building a road westerly from Banff to Lake Louise and Field, B.C., and which was later to form an important link of our Trans-Canada Highway. At that time, and throughout the thirty-two years that I knew him, Jim was a never failing source of accurate information on road and trail routes through the Rockies and in which for many years I was directly interested. His first-hand information was of the greatest value on many occasions.

During my term as President of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, I found in Jim Brewster a fine supporter and counsellor and one whose suggestions overcame many difficulties.

He was a natural born Trail Rider and it is very fitting that his name has already been perpetuated by mountain, stream, and valley in our Canadian Rockies.

From KEITH E. HOFFMEYER, Indianapolis, Indiana

We learn, with deepest sorrow, that our good friend, James I. ("Jim") Brewster, whose name is synonymous with "Banff", has taken the "Last Trail".

A typical son of the great Canadian Northwest, this pioneer, from early childhood, contributed much to the prestige of the Trail Riders. As a teen-ager he hunted with the Indians, and has retained their friendship and respect throughout the years.

A man of many adventures, Jim started his business career at sixteen as a packer and outfitter, and explorer. He was with Colonel O'Hara when Lake O'Hara was discovered.

With the advent of the tourist, Jim, keeping pace with the times, went into the transfer business, and saw his horse-drawn Tally-Ho give way to the automobile, and the new deluxe busses of the Brewster Transport Company Limited today are mute evidence of his progress.

Jim was a personal friend of the Duke of Windsor and has met all the male members of the British Royal House.

The King and Queen of Siam, and the Governors General of the last three decades have enjoyed Jim's hospitality.

The highlight of Jim's social career was when he had the great honor of accompanying "Their Majesties", the King and Queen of England, on a tour of Banff, and entertained them in his home.

Jim was President of the Trail Riders in 1933, and although his many duties made it difficult in later years to participate in the rides, his enthusiasm remained infectious, and the Trail Riders owe much to his practical interest and generosity.

A man of strong personality and magnetism, we feel that the Trail Riders, and all Canada, have lost a truly great man.

God took him home—it was His will;
Within our hearts, he liveth still.

From DR GEORGE W. REA, Saskatoon

It was with great sorrow and surprise that I learned of Jim Brewster's death, he looked so well when I saw him last Summer.

The Trail Riders have lost one of the great old-timers of the Order. His interest and help, so freely given, have contributed largely to the success of a long series of Trail Rides. He will be greatly missed, not only in Banff and the Rockies, but by the many visitors from all parts of the world who have had the privilege of knowing him, and I amongst so many others will miss his welcome to the Mountains.

From DR A. T. GILLESPIE, Fort William, Ontario

My recollection of Jim Brewster will always place him as a gentleman of unfailing courtesy and good will. He was always keenly interested in the Trail Riders and their doings. It was always a pleasure for him and to us to have him at our annual Pow Wow, where his sage advice was sought. To him we owe a deep feeling of gratitude for organizing and sponsoring the Trail Riders of the Rocky Mountains, and in great part are we able to ride the trails and view the scenic splendor of the mountains due to his long familiar knowledge of those parts. In future rides we shall remember his voice and thank Heaven that Jim Brewster lived.

From GEORGE VAUX, Bryn Mawr, Penna.

Jim Brewster was so intimately associated with the Canadian Rockies that it would be difficult to mention any phase of the life there to which he had not contributed. His passing has removed that much more of the personality and color which added so much to the charm and good fellowship of the mountains in days gone by.

Jim with the Right Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald in 1929

FROM MAJOR-GENERAL W. W. FOSTER, Victoria, B.C.

With the passing of "Jim" Brewster Canada has lost a pioneer who made an outstanding contribution in revealing to his fellow citizens the splendor of the mountain area of the Rockies.

My acquaintance with him began shortly after the foundation of the Alpine Club of Canada, in which he was greatly interested and encouraged with practical assistance during its earlier years. About the same time the writer, as Deputy Minister of Public Works for British Columbia, made trips from the Columbia Valley via Sinclair Pass, the Kootenay and Vermillion to investigate a proposal of the late Honourable R. R. Bruce, one time Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and others to connect the Columbia and Bow River Valleys by road, thus contributing to the value of Banff as a centre of mountain travel. Although firmly convinced that the scenic wonders of Canada's Alpine areas should not be despoiled by too many motor roads but be sought and enjoyed by those willing to travel by pack trail or on foot, the construction of this particular road, later completed in co-operation with the Dominion Government to permit free access to centers such as Banff from which trips could be planned, made an immediate appeal to "Jim" Brewster and he materially assisted in the provision of such projects.

It can truthfully be said that the finest tribute to him may be found in the preservation of Canada's alpine heritage and the development of its National Park System, through which that heritage will forever remain an asset to the people of Canada.

From TRAVERS COLEMAN

"All us Brewsters are alike . . . bow-legged and bad-tempered".

The late Jim Brewster had that stock retort for anyone who remarked on the noted family resemblance.

Jim had the Irishman's pride of family and heritage, and a fierce loyalty which made his friendship a treasured thing. Also in the Irish tradition he dearly loved a fight, if only for the fight's sake.

Banff is much poorer for Jim's passing, and only the years will fully reveal the extent of the loss.

While he is remembered as the transportation CZAR whose fleet of sleek sightseeing buses and limousines ferried thousands of tourists around the winding mountain roads, Jim remained first and last a horseman. Even during a busy season it was his wont and pleasure to pack a string of horses and set off into the hills for a spot of fishing.

For Jim the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies was what the sports editors call a "natural". In his judgment the right way to investigate the Rockies was from the top deck of a surefooted cayuse. He never quite got used to hikers, or mountaineers, but to him the Trail Riders made sense.

He lent his support to the Trail Riders as he did to the ski tournaments, Indian Days, the Winter carnival, and the other events which carried the name of Banff throughout the world. As a member of the Trail Committee he gave the Riders wise counsel, his views and judgments being delivered in that dry and caustic wit so well remembered by his friends.

We will remember him sitting atop a horse, around the campfire as the last rays of the sun touched the highest peaks and the valleys lay deep in gloom and the bells of the horses tinkled in the far distance. We will remember him with a fishing pole making his brisk way around Rock Isle or Grizzly lakes. We will remember him as one of Nature's noblemen, full of instinctive chivalry, whose tongue could bite deep into sham and pomposity, a simple man of the mountains as much at home with kings as he was with cowboys.

From WILLIAM U. BARDWELL, Chicago

Jim Brewster was just about synonymous with the trail riders of the Canadian Rockies, so far as I was concerned. I remember that he was always thoughtful and considerate of newcomers, and the warmth of his reception to newcomers was proverbial. Even if he was not taking the ride, he was always on hand to adjust a stirrup here and there and see to it that the cinches were tightened. He gave many a newcomer warm encouragement and a friendly wave as the party moved down the trail. His counsel and advice in planning for each new ride was of great value, and his influence in seeing that the trail was in good order was of much help. As a matter of fact, the present flourishing condition of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies is due to the enthusiasm and continuing interest of that fine group of men of whom Jim Brewster was one. The Trail Riders honor his memory.

From CARL RUNGIUS

"One thing, I remember, when I was President of the Trail Riders and rather nervous about presiding at the meeting, which at that time was at Castle Mountain, Jim Brewster stood by to take over if necessary, but after my opening remarks he smiled and walked away; always ready to help was the characteristic feature of Jim, according to my recollections of a fine fellow."

JIM AND
THE QUEEN OF SIAM

The photograph of Jim Brewster with Her Majesty the Queen of Siam recalls an entertaining incident in the history of the Trail Riders, which your editor has recounted at the camp fire, but may be new to some of our members.

A number of years ago, the King and Queen of Siam, together with a considerable entourage, including an Admiral and a General, stopped off at Banff for a brief vacation on their way back from the Eastern States, where the King had gone for treatment by an oculist. General E. de B. Panet, at that time in charge of the C.P.R. police, was deputed to look after the Royal Party, and as he was himself a Trail Rider, he was entirely in sympathy with the idea that we should endeavour to secure their Majesties as members of the Order. However, just before the Royal Party left Montreal, a message came from the Siamese Embassy at Washington that the King must not ride, as if he were to fall off his horse, he would 'lose face' with his subjects. That was a blow to our hopes, but the diplomacy of Jim was more than a match for it. As President of the Brewster Transport Company he drove the car over the roads from which the King and Queen saw the Canadian Rockies. In the hope of attracting the King's attention, he wore his Trail Rider button on the ribbon of his Stetson hat, while in his pocket he carried a copy of the Constitution. This was a new technique for hunting Big Game. The button did attract the King's attention, who asked what it signified. Jim pulled the Constitution from his pocket, and said that would explain everything.

Next day the King said he would like to qualify as a member of the Trail Riders. He was eligible, he said, as his profession was that of a King.

"Very sorry," said Jim, "but we have no dead-heads in this Order, and we have advice from Washington that Your Majesty must not be allowed to ride on horseback."

"That's absurd!" exclaimed the King. "I was taught to ride when I was an undergraduate at Oxford, by Dick Roberts, who is in charge of the corral at the Banff Springs Hotel... I must look into this."

So the telegrams flew over the wires to and from Washington, and it turned out that it was a put-up job by members of his suite, who were afraid that horse-back riding would make it uncomfortable for them to sit down on ordinary chairs.

Whereupon the King said, "I am going to ride; the Queen is going to ride; the Admiral is going to ride; the General is going to ride, and the Secretary is going to ride. And we are all going to ride till we qualify for our buttons."

Which they did.

The ceremony of investiture took place in the corral with speeches in which Phil Moore, who was President that year, outshone himself.

One could fill a whole Bulletin with other details of what happened then and afterwards. "Anna and the King of Siam" was just a prelude. Suffice to say that His Majesty's reply to Phil Moore's flow of eloquence was an unrecorded classic:—

"Kindly tell Mr. R. B. Bennett (then Prime Minister of Canada) that I think the Trails in his Parks are better than the Roads. And kindly tell Sir Edward Beatty (then President of the Canadian Pacific Railway) that I prefer his Bungalow Camps to his hotels."

The Queen of Siam was indeed a most graceful rider, and we are glad to have this opportunity of showing Her Majesty on horseback.

Jim Brewster wore the Trail Riders Button on his Stetson Hat.

From KEITH HOFFMEYER, Indianapolis, Indiana

Keith Hoffmeyer writes: "Believe it or not the attraction was the Olympic Ski Jumping Tryouts and the Olympic Bobsled Runs.

Miss Helen Wischmeyer, of Pittsburgh, a Trail Rider of two years ago, was enjoying a winter holiday at Mirror Lake Inn—so I joined her and talked over old times. We went to the ski jumps, and while I was busy watching those rugged jumpers, a beautiful blonde stepped up and asked—'Aren't you a trail rider?' It was lovely Larry Oliver, and up ran Lorna and Dave to greet us.

We had a Trail Riders party—and the next day came the day of thrills. We drove to Mt. Van Hoevenberg to see the Olympic Bobsled Runs. After the races—we decided to ride the bobsleds, so we rode to the Half Mile House where we signed "Waivers"—and our life away—donned crash helmets—and sat down girgerly on the 500 lb. bobsleds.

The wind tore at our heads as we gathered speed, 40, 50, 60 miles per hour, suddenly a high wall of dazzling ice flashes by—"Little S"—thru—intones the speaker—faster, faster—down a straightaway then the thrill of thrills, the end of many a bobsled career—famous "Zig-zag".

Gasping desperately we hurtle high on "Zig"—a quick jerk—a leap from "Zig" to "Zag"—flash some 20 feet high, flash out as the speaker drones "Zig-Zag" thru—one final burst of speed as we careen high on the 25 foot "finish" curve and shriek under the birdge—to a swirling uphill stop.

Bobsledding! That's the winter thrill for Trail Riders.

Plans for the Trail Rides of 1947

As intimated in the Bulletin for February the locality most favoured for the central base camp will be on the shores of a small lake on a ledge on the shoulder of Monarch Mountain. The dates selected for the two camps are July 18th to 22nd and July 25th to 29th.

The starting point will be Banff, but the route may be changed so as to give greater variety both coming and going. The revised map in this Bulletin shows the prepared itinerary. The new plan is to have buses convey the Trail Riders to the point on the Bow River where it is joined by Red Earth Creek. There is an old bridge here but whether it is strong enough to carry the buses is a moot question. If not, the corral will be on the South side of the Bow. There is a good firewarden's road alongside Red Earth Creek to the junction with Pharaoh Creek, and here a trail diverges past Egypt Lake to Monarch Mountain.

The trail to Banff will probably reverse the old trail used by Sir George Simpson on his overland journey Round the World in 1841, going directly over the Pass and not by way of Sunshine Lodge. It was on this trail that Jim Brewster located a blaze made by James Rowan, the Hudson Bay Factor who accompanied Sir George Simpson. This blaze was removed before it disappeared through inclement weather, and was preserved in the Brewster House in Banff. It is shown in the accompanying photograph.
